

Not everyone speaks "woof" and "meow"

Give your pet the voice they don't have, microchip and license your pet today!

-  Microchips are tiny capsules the size of a grain of rice that contain a unique identification number that links you and your pet.
-  Inserting the microchip under your pet's skin is quick, sterile, and no more painful than a routine vaccination.
-  Microchips are great for cats clever enough to remove their collars.

Microchips are available at Animal Services for only $10. You buy a million things for your pet best friends - toys, beds, little outfits -- so don't forget the most important accessory of all - the one that will keep them in your life.

Rabies vaccination, licenses and microchips are available at:
